Pennies ..... For Uncle Sam

Carolyn Lee, tiny young motion picture star, was the first to buy one of the novel glass savings banks placed on sale at Standard Oil Company stations this week. Said Paramount's 7-year-old miss: "If all little boys and girls don't save their money and buy bonds, Uncle Sam can't afford a larger Army and Navy to protect us—and then, there won't be an America when we grow up." Standard Oil is further cooperating with the U. S. Treasury Department, in its drive to sell defense savings stamps and bonds, by building glass "defense houses" in key cities throughout California and Arizona.

Santa To Stage Parade Before Event Saturday

Santa Claus and his helpers are going to stage a parade in Redwood City Saturday night—a parade that will end up at the courthouse on Broadway where St. Nick and his "elves" will distribute 2500 boxes of candy and nuts to Redwood City children.

This was reported Tuesday to the Merchants Committee of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce at a session at which it was decided Wednesday, Dec. 17, would be the date when local stores would start staying open nights for the convenience of shoppers. Most stores will be open each night from then until Christmas, according to H. C. Mitchell, chairman of the merchant group. He explained that the majority of merchants voted for that date in preference to Dec. 13.

Santa Claus, riding on a truck laden with the candy, and his helpers, who will be members of the merchants' committee dressed in red coats and hats this year, will arrive at the city hall at 7 o'clock, where he will be met by Boy Scouts and the Redwood City Municipal Band.

He will then lead a parade to the courthouse, going by way of Main St. to Broadway and Main, then up Broadway to the courthouse.

As the parade begins, Redwood City's colored street lights will flash on to herald approach of the Christmas season.

Only in event of rain that night will the arrival of Santa Claus be delayed.

That he will have goodies a-plenty for all local youngsters was reported to the committee last night by K. B. Towne, who said that the 2500 boxes already had been packed and were awaiting the arrival of St. Nick to pass them out.

Abe Jacobs, another member of the committee, said that the brightly-colored suits would be available for Santa's helpers, who will assist him in distributing the candy.

W. D. Ryan, chairman of the decorations committee, reported that Fire Chief Mark E. Ryan's electrical department is stringing the lights and putting up the new Christmas decorations on electroliers and that all will be in readiness for Saturday night.

War or no war, Hongkong still imports race ponies from Australia. Ninety-six have arrived in the colony, to be run in the 1942 season.

L. E. Lafferty Heads County Publishers

Members of the San Mateo County Press Association met Monday night in the Benjamin Franklin Hotel in San Mateo to elect officers for the coming year.

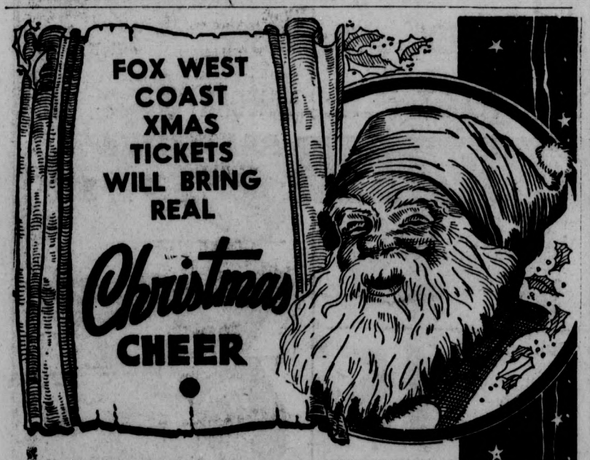

Lester E. Lafferty, publisher of the San Carlos Enquirer, was chosen president and George Dunn, Half Moon Bay Review, vice president. Al Boynton, Daly City Enterprise, was re-elected secretary-treasurer. George A. McQueen, Burlingame Advance, the retiring president, was nominated for the State Advisory Council of the California Newspaper Publishers Association.

Those attending from Redwood City were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd F. McCue and Neal Van Sooy.

Check Passer Wins Two Years' Probation

Merle Simpson, 35, former Redwood City resident who admitted cashing $74 worth of fictitious checks here, was admitted to probation for two years on Monday by Superior Judge Maxwell McNutt. Simpson must serve 60 days in the county jail and make restitution. He was given credit for 38 days already served.

Joe Bennett and Bruce Harkness, two 26-year-old San Mateo men who pleaded guilty to charges of burglarizing a San Mateo tire shop safe, were admitted to two years' probation provided they serve 90 days in jail.

Mr. and Mrs.

Mrs. Wilma Durbin Of San Carlos Dies

A long illness ended in death at Mills Memorial Hospital on Monday afternoon for Mrs. Wilma Durbin, who lived with her daughter, Mrs. Mildred Emery, at 640 Chestnut St., San Carlos. Mrs. Durbin had been in the hospital for the past three days, but had been in ill health some time.

She was a native of Germany, aged 58 years.

Chiang Kai-shek, the Chinese generalissimo, once was a broker in Shanghai.

Buildings Are Moved

MENLO PARK — Permits for moving buildings in Menlo Park to allow for the widening of El Camino Real constituted a major share of the community's building activity during November. Six permits, totaling more than $18,000, were issued by Bldg. Insp. John Glunz for moving projects.

Construction activity showed a gain from $36,475 in October to $55,100 last month. Thirteen permits were issued. Total value of building for which permits have been granted during the first 11 months of the year is $477,175.

The following permits were issued in November:

Gus Wollnick, owner and builder, on Santa Cruz Ave., residence, $5000.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Simpson, owners; E. J. Schmaling, builder, on Laurel Dr., residence, $8000.

Joe Edy, owner; A. Hendrickson, builder, at Arbor Rd. and Valparaiso Ave., addition to residence, $7000.

H. Lusk, owner; Anderson Bros., builders, in Stanford Park, moving building, $1500.

R. B. Elston, owner and builder, on College Ave., two residences, $4000 and $5000.

H. L. Martin, owner; James H. McFarland, builder, in Paraiso Park, moving building, $5000.

L. Boetto, owner; James H. McFarland, builder, in Paraiso Park, moving building, $4800.

Frank Krauru, owner; James H. McFarland, builder, in Paraiso Park, moving building, $2800.

Marie Campagne, owner; Anderson Bros., builders, at 1049 El Camino Real, moving building, $4000.

Jerome Draper Co., owner; M. F. Palmer, builder, on Felton Dr., residence, $8000.

Other permits for which no value was stated were:

Frank Salig, owner; Roberson Mullen, builder, on Felton Dr., addition to residence.

Council Gets Sympathetic

A houseful of children and Winter coming on—

This was one of the situations that slowed down efforts of Redwood City officials this week in the clean-up campaign for next year's Diamond Jubilee Celebration.

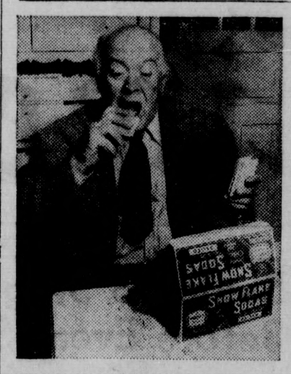

Calling for a report of abatement proceedings recently ordered against two unsightly homes here, Mayor Harold F. Anderson was informed at Monday night's council meeting that at least one of the homes is in such bad condition as to be impossible to repair—and that it is occupied by a large family.

City Atty. Albert Mansfield said that in view of the season of the year, he had hesitated to press the proceedings. City Manager C. L. Dimmitt added that the San Mateo County Housing Authority had been unable as yet to promise that the two places could be credited against the city's allocation of low-rent homes to be built here under the pending housing project.

Agreeing that the two houses were not fit for habitation, councilmen discussed several alternatives before deciding, upon suggestion of Councilman Floyd D. Granger, to notify the occupants of the abatement decision and then to delay the matter until the next meeting, when more definite information may be available from the housing authority.

Meanwhile City Manager Dimmitt promised to have a comprehensive report ready for that meeting on complete progress and recommendations to date in the campaign to put the city in top condition for its 75th anniversary celebration.

Hollywood "Crackeretiquette"

"Bite-and-Run" System — approved for quick snatches only, says Guy Kibbee between scenes of his latest MGM film, "Design of Scandal."

"Soup-Cooler-Offer" Method — okay in a pinch, explains Kibbee. Might also be classified: Making snowflakes out of Snow Flake Sodas.

The "Dee-Vine" Stage — acceptable only when you're imitating Park Avenue. Kibbee says there's too much muscle strain to be termed "dainty."

The Correct Way! Here we find Kibbee relaxed, comfortable—able to enjoy to the fullest the famous "Extra Flavor" of fresh, flaky Snow Flakes.

S.F. 'Dead End' Victim Under Suspicion Here

John Imperiale, 18-year-old San Francisco "dead-end kid" who was killed by a policeman's bullet yesterday, was under suspicion for burglary and passing forged checks in San Mateo County, the district attorney's office disclosed today.

According to Dep. Dist. Atty. Burress Karmel, Imperiale was wanted for questioning in connection with the burglary of a Skyline Blvd. roadside store near Colma Nov. 16, and for passing two spurious $25 checks.

The youth was killed when he failed to stop his car when officers told him to halt. He was wanted on check charges in San Francisco.

The birth rate for England in 1940 was 14.6 per 1000, a decline of 2 per cent from 1939.

Peterson Accident Brings Claim

Claim for $1143 damages against the county for damage to a trailer and truck and loss of a load of manure was filed with the board of supervisors here Tuesday.

Claimant was L. O. Stockton, who charged that County Executive Frederick Peterson, driving a county car, was responsible for the accident. It occurred Oct. 4 at Burlingame on Bayshore Hwy. Peterson was slightly injured. The board referred the claim to the district attorney.

Delayed for two weeks was provision of funds to pay another judge to handle the First Township's class A court during the illness of Judge Wade H. Clay. Asst. Dist. Atty. Daniel E. Sullivan said the state judicial council had been asked to appoint a judge to the vacancy, and action was expected within two weeks.

Whether or not additional money can be paid for the support of the office must be determined, Sullivan pointed out.

The board abandoned a portion of the old county highway between Sharp Park and Rockaway Beach, voted $1125 to purchase an automobile for the planning and recreation commissions, increased the number of election precincts to 281, refunded $3309 in taxes to Ocean Shore Railroad, and granted an indefinite leave of absence to Controller Thomas J. Kane to handle confidential county tax business.

From the cocoanut leaves and wood, its meat and oil are made shelter, fuel, food, and drink by the Tahitians.

Rites for Mrs. Miller Are Held in Stockton

Funeral services were held in Stockton on Tuesday for Mrs. Johanna Miller, 48, wife of a Redwood City stationery store proprietor, who died of a heart attack believed brought on by grief over the fatal shooting of her brother, Otto Dander, Stockton utility executive and American Legion leader.

The rites were held in the De Young Memorial Chapel, with the Rev. Donald Latimer of the East Side Presbyterian Church officiating.

Mrs. Miller was stricken after the funeral of her brother, whose shooting climaxed a fight in a Stockton cocktail lounge Armistice Day. Maurice Zuckerman, Los Angeles and Stockton produce commissioner, charged with Dander's murder, is seriously ill with a heart ailment in a San Francisco hospital.

Mrs. Miller is survived by her husband, Ernest Miller, Redwood City; a daughter, Mrs. B. B. Berman, San Francisco; her mother, Mrs. Margaret Dander, Stockton; two brothers, Ernest and Vernon Dander, both Stockton, and a sister, Hilda Dander of Stockton.

$495 Turned In Already

Confidence that Redwood City would reach—or perhaps exceed—the roll call total of last year in the current Red Cross campaign was expressed here by Wayne R. Millington drive chairman, as he announced that a total of $495.71 had been reported in to date.

Millington listed the following totals for these organizations:

Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, $7.35; Sequoia High School, $86; Fire Department, $97.10; North Fair Oaks Improvement Club, $98; American Legion Auxiliary, $33; Friendly Acres, $9.36; Japanese Association, $23; VFW, $41.90; Elementary Schools, $76; Canyon Sanitarium, $24.

The contribution from the sanitarium came in entirely voluntarily, Millington said.

"The roll call is getting along nicely," he commented. "I anticipate that we will equal or perhaps exceed last year's total of $2208.24."

AUTO TRAILER TOP BURNS

Grand Jury Indicts FHA Falsifiers

False statements submitted in applications for loans involving $3000 insured by the Federal Housing Administration brought severe penalties to two creamery workers in the court of Federal Judge A. F. St. Sure recently.

Carroll William Peck, 45, of Sharp Park, was sentenced to three years in federal prison and Roy C. Boothroyd, 50, of Alameda, was fined $100 and placed on probation for five years. Both were indicted by the Federal Grand Jury Oct. 15 for making false statements in obtaining FHA insured loans and on Nov. 8 Peck withdrew his former plea of not guilty and joined Boothroyd in an admission of guilt. His plea for probation was denied.

Criminal action followed FHA investigation of a Title I loan for $1500, secured by Peck to construct a four-room cottage at Sharp Park, San Mateo County. It was claimed that proceeds of the loan were dissipated and the proposed house was not built.

Five months later, according to evidence submitted to the grand jury, Peck induced Boothroyd, a fellow workman in a creamery, to apply for a loan for a like amount through another branch of the same bank. The borrower was said to have endorsed the check over to Peck, who deposited it in his personal account, and paid Boothroyd $100 in consideration for assisting in obtaining the additional $1500.

Proceeds of the second loan also were dissipated, the grand jury was told, and no new dwelling was constructed. The convictions were said to be the result of the first of a series of investigations made locally by the FHA.

Frank De Patta Has 'Good Day'

Frank A. De Patta, local real estate broker, had a good day Wednesday. In the short space of 12 hours he sold three homes, one to Richard Unger, proprietor of Dick's radio shop at 710 East Third Ave., here. The other two were sold to Alfred Trugillo, who purchased a house at 440 Middlefield Rd., and P. Flores, at 504 Hamilton St.

The unusual "day's work" is proof of the shortage of homes in comparison with the demand in the area, according to Mr. De Patta.

No Building Shortages

City Bldg. Insp. L. M. Duncan today blamed a widespread fear of priorities and material shortage for a decline in city building activity. He said his own investigation had disclosed there was no threatened shortage of lumber, plumbing or electrical supplies in Redwood City. Building costs are approximately 5 per cent higher than a year ago in line with the general increase in price levels, he estimated.

The Floor is the Foundation---

"Always under foot and always in the eye." What is it? The lowly rug—which is climbing into the spotlight this Winter season. The new floor coverings are quite the most arresting and colorful ones seen in many a season, according to local carpet salesmen, and they are arresting and colorful for a variety of reasons.

First comes color because color is a new all-important feature of the new fabrics. And as the rug or carpet is the color keynote of the room, the foundation upon which the furnishing plan is built, the makers of American wool pile floor coverings have seen to it that the every taste of Mrs. America—and her family—may be satisfied.

Design is only slightly less important. It contributes definitely to color interest. In fact, figured fabrics have captured the imagination of home decorators.

The greatest surge of interest in home furnishings in recent years is here. Whether this be attributed to the great increase in the building of new houses, particularly smaller homes, or to the refurnishing of time-worn rooms, or other reasons, it is a fact. And the demand for color and more color in the home is the real news. Building a room plan about the new floor coverings is a pleasant and satisfying adventure.

Thanks to the co-operation of the producers of different home furnishing articles, you will find that most headaches have been taken out of decorating. You will be pleased beyond measure to see that the makers of rugs and carpets have conferred with the makers of other fabrics, with wall covering producers, and others to provide complete harmony in color schemes. Further, around a series of the most important colors they have built suggested schemes — many of them—so that you actually may see just what to expect when carpet, drapes, upholstery fabrics and wall coverings actually come together. And that, one must admit, is a long, long step on the road to success and satisfaction in decoration.

While you, of course, will want to experience the thrill of looking at these new things, let us review some of the high style notes of the season. Fashions in floor coverings exist, but they do not shift rapidly, for which one may be duly thankful. Certain color trends and tendencies in pattern interest persist and develop slowly. These are most noteworthy.

Colors are lighter, brighter, and designs are more in evidence. Tones of rose are dominant. Blues, which have been growing in interest steadily, continue their importance. Tans, beiges and Burgundies are definitely in the style picture. There is refinement in all colors.

Design contributes materially to color interest. Floral patterns range from bold, Victorian and 18th Century rose designs to delicate, subdued forms. You may have naturalistic or conventionalized groupings. The emphasis is on the bolder designs and in these, roses dominate.

Two-tone designs in which the pattern appears in lighter tones of the basic color are not new, but continue to be important in the style showings. In figured fabrics this and a more intricate coloring effect, in which accents of a contrasting color are added, are to be seen on every hand.

In plain carpetings the carved or sculptured design lends texture interest which has developed rapidly in popular favor. In fact, these textured effects are materially increased in the season's presentations. Textures resulting from use of twisted yarns continue to play an important part.

Textured Fabrics Distinguish Modern Apartment

The modernist goes in for texture in fabrics to relieve the severity of line and expanse of plain surface which distinguishes the best furniture of this style. The rough, tending-to-shaggy rug, in the lighter colors so much admired, lends character to the room. Furniture coverings, repeating the rug color, also have texture interest.

SPAB Order

Nelson's Letter to McNary Says 'Builder Is Free To Go Ahead'

Northern California Homes Foundation has released a letter from Donald M. Nelson, director of the Supply, Priorities and Allocations Board, to Sen. Charles L. McNary, which is the last word on the SPAB construction order of Oct. 9, according to Bernard B. Barber, foundation chairman. The letter follows:

"In connection with our conversation this noon, I am writing to briefly give you interpretation of the Supply, Priorities and Allocations Board regarding the recently announced construction order.

"In effect, the policy, as outlined, is for the guidance of the Priorities Division of the Office of Production Management in granting priority assistance on construction projects. In the future, if a builder cannot get materials for construction purposes without a preference rating, he will not be able to get them at all unless he can satisfy the Priorities Division that the job he is working on is essential to the nation, either directly for national defense or indirectly as a safeguard to civilian health and safety.

"While this policy will put sharp limits on new construction, it is far from being a 'stop building' order. Many basic materials such as lumber and clay products are not particularly scarce and, unless strategic metals are required, the builder is as free to go ahead as he was a year ago."

"In other statements Mr. Nelson made it clear that it is SPAB policy to encourage home and farm building to the greatest extent, limited only by priorities on critical metals which are short in supply and on which planes, guns, tanks and ships must be given first call," Barber comments. "We invite all prospective builders to write their individual problems to Northern California Homes Foundation, 1833 Broadway, Fresno, Calif.

Moderate Cost Home Plan

"The builder is as free to go ahead as he was a year ago," Donald M. Nelson, priorities director, has stated. In 265 official defense housing areas, preference ratings may be obtained on homes of moderate cost, to assure supply of building metals. In many other areas all building materials are yet available and may be purchased without restraint. "Do not hesitate—BUILD NOW," urges Northern California Homes Foundation. "Shortages have not increased building materials prices. The home as an investment is at an all-time high, particularly from the standpoint of security."

There are two types of fir plywood. One is exterior (waterproof) type used for boats and siding of buildings. The other is for use on interior walls, in cabinets and counters and other places not exposed to water or weather.
